

FROZEN DESSERT AND PROCESS OF MANUFACTURE

ABSTRACT

The invention is a frozen, microwavable dessert that includes a frozen 5 confectionery core, a coating of semi-fluid composition having an insulating character with respect to microwaves, partially or completely surrounding the core, a layer of biscuit serving as support for the core-coating combination, the coating and the biscuit being arranged such that the core is completely surrounded, and a layer of sauce having microwave-absorbing character.
